A Kentucky mother and author is helping the community while sharing a story that is near and dear to her heart.

Shannon Clark recalled, "After Christmas, when I was taking the Christmas decorations down, my son asked me a question that I will never forget. As I was putting our nativity scene away, he asked, 'Why are you putting Jesus in a box?'" After she explained that it was time to put the decorations away until next year, her son asked if he could keep the family nativity scene in his room. It brought him comfort, and that realization spurred Shannon to write a story that would help keep faith in children's lives. "I want these books to encourage kids to help others and know the difference they can make each day," she explained.

The Angels Above series will be making a difference in the world through their partnerships with two charitable organizations. One, Children's Hunger Fund, delivers food and hope to children and families in need. Story Changers provides meals and comfort to over 100 children in Ethiopia. "With the sale of every book, we will be donating 10 meals to children in need. These meals will bring the nourishment needed for children to focus on their futures," Shannon explained.

Spread the Love with Angels Above - Connected2Christ.com

Every little one needs to learn about the role Angels play in the Kingdom of God. Throughout scripture we see Angels being commanded by God to do his bidding. We see angels rejoicing in singing, angels delivering good news, angels in battle, and more. Angel Friends is a sweet offering that can open the door to conversations about God's love and protection. The book paired with the angel friend toy serves to children as a tangible reminder to be kind, help others, and that God is always with them.

In each Angels Above book that is sold, 10 meals are provided to children around in need through the Children's Hunger Fund and Story Changers. How wonderful is that? Children can grow in their faith with this book and also know that other children will be helped because of it! The book is beautifully illustrated and shares a message of comfort, mercy, hope, and friendship.

WHAT ARE PEOPLE SAYING?

The kids were delighted to welcome their new angels. What an amazing concept and what an impact these have had on the children. The first question was do you think she really is an angel with heavenly power? Wanting and wishing it to be true! They immediately filled out the birth certificates, named the Angels and according to the sitter were talking to them and involved with them the rest of the evening ....as well as slept with them tucked in their beds.

Wow! What wonderful presents. We love our angels and the message in the book. Very special. Thank you!!! - Sandy

Congratulations upon your new publication. Unique. A blessing of a creative enterprise for all the right reasons. Explore and look at this truly gifted "Gift"...A Bluegrass gem of a children's message through artistic imagery and poetic story telling. Faith & Friendship. Love it. - Pat

What a sweet book! My daughter's face lit up when she realized this angel was her very own forever to keep. She named her Blue LuLu. You did an amazing job. I can't wait for the next book!

We received our Angel and book today I just read it to my children. It's absolutely beautiful. My kids love it. Thank you so very much. I am happy that you wrote this it really helps my children understand what they mean to God.

I got the infant book today! My Goddaughter is excited her baby sister will have one too. She opened hers last night and it was love at first sight! She named her angel Violet Rose. During her prayer time she thanked God for her new angel friend and asked for help in always making the right choices not only as a kid but when she was grown up too. Thank you so much for a wonderful gift!
